About FDP’25

The Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on “Models to Manuscripts: Structural Equation Modeling for High-Impact Publications” is designed to equip faculty members and research scholars with the knowledge and skills to apply Structural Equation Modeling (SEM) effectively in their academic research. This FDP emphasizes a practical, hands-on approach to using AMOS software for building, refining, and interpreting complex models, with a strong focus on producing publication-quality research outputs. Through five focused sessions, participants will gain a comprehensive understanding of measurement and structural models, hypothesis testing, advanced SEM techniques, and best practices for reporting results in high-impact journals. The programme aims to strengthen participants’ analytical capabilities, enhance their research methodology expertise, and support their journey toward impactful scholarly publications.

Objectives of FDP

- Gain hands-on expertise in Structural Equation Modeling (SEM) using AMOS, including building, refining, and interpreting complex models
- To equip participants with AI-based tools and techniques for effective curriculum delivery and assessment.
- Develop the ability to analyze data rigorously and prepare publication-ready manuscripts for high-impact journals.
- Apply advanced SEM techniques and best practices to produce robust, high-quality research outputs in your academic field.

Programme Details

- The seven-day FDP will be conducted from 17th – 22nd November 2025 through online mode.
- Registration fee is Rs. 300/- (Registration fee once paid will not be refunded). Deadline to register is 15th November, 2025.
- E – certificates will be issued for participants who attend all the sessions of the FDP.
