WORKSHOP ON

THE SIGNS AND SCIENCE OF LANGUAGE

REPORT

Class and number of beneficiaries: II MA English Literature: 23 students

Date: 01-07-2019.

Resource Person: Dr. Beena Gopinath

Brief write up:

The Department of English (PG) Kristu Jayanti College organized a workshop on the topic, The Signs and Science of Language on Monday, the 1st of July, 2019. Dr. Beena Gopinath, former Principal, Government College, Attingal, Kerala, addressed the gathering. The resource person spoke about the pronunciation barriers that a non-native English speaker face while speaking English. She pointed out the importance of articulation skills. She said, “There is a greater need for mutual intelligibility and the development of a neutral accent.” Dr. Beena Gopinath further detailed about the importance of learning phonetic alphabet, phonemic transcription and word stress, sentence stress. She also spoke about the speech sounds in English with special reference to vowels, consonants, monophthongs and diphthongs. Dr. Beena Gopinath spent a few minutes to discuss the manner of articulation which includes plosives, fricatives, affricates, nasals, lateral, frictionless continuants etc. Citing examples she made it clear that English is a stress timed language whereas most of the Indian languages are syllable timed. Thereafter the resource person spoke about intonation and the grammatical and attitudinal purposes served by the English language. This was followed by a questionnaire session. The students of II MA English Literature took active participation and gained needful insights about English pronunciation. The presentation enabled them to jot down important notes which contributed to their academics.

ORIENTATION SESSION ON RESEARCH AND ACADEMIC WRITING

Class and number of beneficiaries: I and II MA English Literature, 54

Date: 09.08.2019

Resource person: Dr. Subhashini Muthukrishnan

Brief write up:

The Department of English (PG) organized a Research orientation programme for the students of I and II MA on August 9th, 2019. Dr. Subhashini Muthukrishnan, Head Department of Economics and Dean Social Sciences, St Joseph's College (Autonomous), Bengaluru addressed the gathering. She began by introducing the students to the meaning of research. "Research helps us to develop an understanding of the basic framework of academia" said the resource person. Talking about knowledge she said that there might not be a single universal truth, but rather equilibrium of multiple truths. Research gives us an authority over the issue that we are not sure about and enables us to face the challenge to solve the unsolved problems. Towards the end Dr. Subhashini stressed on the point of maintaining a proper bibliography. Properly documenting the sources at the right time makes the citation process smooth. It was a very interactive session. The students of I and II MA raised many questions to the resource person and had their doubts cleared. A lot of interest was taken by the students of both PG classes because they are very keen to look into the gaps of research in order to bridge them with their upcoming research. This was a golden opportunity for us because the session was very informative and thought provoking. We thank the Department of English (PG) for organizing such an important and needful programme.

WORKSHOP - EXPATRIATE REFLECTIONS ON POETRY AND CREATIVE WRITING

Class and number of beneficiaries: I and II MA English Literature (40 students)

Date: 19.12.2019

Resource Person: Prof. Elsy Satheesan, Virginia, USA

Brief write up:

The Department of English (PG) organised a workshop on December 19, 2019 titled Expatriate Reflections: On Poetry and Creative Writing for the I MA and II MA students. The purpose of the workshop was to provide the students with an idea of Diaspora, connecting it with literature and life and also to expose about the different levels of writing as well as reading poetry. The resource person of the day, Prof. Elsy Satheesan started the session with sharing her own experiences of diaspora when she left India in 1999 and settled in Virginia, USA. She imparted about the longing and deep desire to come back and the reasons why people leave their country and go to a foreign land. She also expressed how the Indians in foreign land look at India from different perspectives. As the session went further, Prof. Elsy Satheesan, spoke about poetry and how poetry can be written. She communicated that poetry is composed of inner or outer inspirations such as the agony of an artist, happiness of an artist and various other feeling. She spoke about writing techniques and stream-of-consciousness technique of writing and how it helps a writer to grow. She ended the session by quoting APJ Abdul Kalam “Dream is not which you see while sleeping. It is something that does not let you sleep.”

WORKSHOP – CREATE ART

REPORT

Class and beneficiaries: I & II MA English Literature (25/26)

Date: 06. 01. 2020

Objective: To explore new modalities of expression in order to broaden the artistic range and creative experience of the students.

Brief write up:

The Department of English (PG) organized a workshop – Create Art by Ms. Samyuktha Rao, an art curator on 6th of January 2020. In the workshop the resource person divided the students into groups of six and within the short span of time she explained through the activities that each and every one has got an artist hidden within them. Once the instructions were given by the resource person, with the help of few basic things like newspapers, gum, brush canvases, the students were divided into small groups. It isn't very difficult and time consuming however, the major attraction of this kind of canvas is that it is eco-friendly. Students were also given few minutes to listen to their inner consciousness through the help of a soothing music. Later on, they were asked to draw whatever they want to pour into the paper according to the music and their mind without being distracted by wild thoughts. The intention behind such an activity was to show the students that everyone is capable to draw, even the greatest artists has made abstract paintings. She also added that no one can judge another's paintings. It can vary according to a person's perspective. This was a fruitful experience for the students as the resource person gave many tips to make the art work creative using eco-friendly products. This workshop provided more knowledge about art works. We thank the Department of English (PG) for being the stage setter for all the students, not only in academics but also in other such activities which is very essential for literature students. In the opinion of Madhuvanthy Sankar, a final year student "Create art workshop was one of the workshops that the department had organized. As an arts student, it was an eye opener for me to realise that anyone can create art and how to channelize one's creativity in the right way. The resource person who herself is an artist cum art curator held my undivided attention throughout the session with her captivating ideas.”

The formal session of the workshop.

WORKSHOP - NATAKA SIDHANTA – Theatre Workshop

REPORT

Class and No of beneficiaries: I& II MA English Literature, 51

Date: 08. 01. 2020

Objective: To explore new modalities of expression in order to broaden the artistic range and creative experience of the students.

Brief write up:

The Department of English (PG) organised Nataka Sidhanta, a Theatre Workshop on January 08, 2020. The purpose was to sensitise the students with the various theoretical aspects of theatre. Dr. Pavithra, the resource person of the day, is a faculty in Theatre Arts, Department of Performing Arts, Bangalore University. She is an expert in the field and began by briefing to the students about the history of drama and its necessities. The main focus of the session was on the 'Theories of Theatre'. Dr. Pavithra lectured about the origin of theatre and the importance of tragedies in Greece. The students could familiarize themselves with the concept of tragedy and why a tragedy is important and how is it important to Greeks and later on to the rest of the world. Drama forms a very important part of English Literature and Literature as a whole. The workshop was very beneficial for the students because they were able to sensitize themselves with the '-isms' of theatre which includes Classicism, Neo-classicism, Realism, Naturalism, Expressionism and Symbolism. Dr. Pavithra also helped the students to familiarize with the theorists by explaining to them about the structure of these theories along with an explanation of Aristotle's 'structure of a play'.

In the opinion of Esther Jayakumar, a final year student, 'the workshop was very informative and enriching'. This was a golden opportunity for the students as this workshop was a part of the Certificate Programme for the final year students of the department. There were 51 participants who learnt to connect theatre performance with literature as well as life.

WORKSHOP ON 'THE LANGUAGE OF SILENCE'

REPORT

Class and number of beneficiaries: II MA - 24

Date: 22.01.2020

Objective: To sensitize students with the significance of sign language.

Resource person: Prof. Maria Goretti J

Brief write up:

The Department of English (PG) organized The Language of Silence, a one day Workshop for the students of II MA English Literature on Wednesday, the 22nd January 2020. Prof. Maria Goretti J is the Head of the Department of Sign Language at Dr. S. R. Chandrasekar Institute of Speech and Hearing, Bengaluru. She is an expert in the field and began by teaching the students the two hand alphabets. Time was given to the students to learn the things right after teaching them. She elaborated on how to deal with the deaf. It was made clear that those people are not supposed to be called dumb or mute, but society can address them as deaf. She gave a detailed talk on the importance of learning Indian Sign Language (ISL), ISL as a language and the parameters of ISL such as hand shapes, orientation, location, movement and expression. William Stokoe, an American linguist is the father of Sign Language. His research on American Sign Language (ASL) revolutionized the understanding of ASL in the United States and sign languages throughout the world and had a profound impact on deaf culture, deaf education, and sign language teaching and interpreting. Later on several deaf vocabularies were taught, such as relationships, colours, numbers, and different varieties of food etc. She also talked about the importance of preserving the precious gifts of speech and hearing and the means to take care of our ears. According to the resource person, "it is a myth to say that deafness only affects old people or those born deaf". Memory game too was conducted by dividing the students into groups. Towards the end of the session, a revision was done on all the things which were taught. The workshop came to an end as the game lotto was played and a small assessment test was conducted. The workshop was very beneficial for the students of II MA because it was totally different from the other workshops and students who were ignorant about the sign language were imparted with the plethora of knowledge. We thank the Department of English (PG) for organizing The Language of Silence, which was an eye opener for all the students. This was a golden opportunity for us and we will always treasure the lessons learned from this workshop and will make use of it. In the opinion of Aishwarya M, a student of II MA, “The workshop on sign language was highly informative and interesting. The workshop provided us with the opportunity to learn the basics of sign language which will be very useful for us in our everyday life. I look forward to learn more about the subject”.
